“Empowering and Sustaining Oregon Family Farms”

On Saturday, October 28, 2023, Farm-to-Consumer Legal Defense Fund will hold its signature fundraising event of the year, “Empowering and Sustaining Oregon Family Farms.” Hosted by The Ground, an ecosystem of businesses connecting farms, food and people through loving hospitality, this farm-to-table dinner with optional farm tour is an opportunity to bridge the gap between food and community.

Join us at Stillwater in McMinnville, Ore. for a locally sourced and expertly prepared dinner that features Willamette Valley wines and beer. Enjoy live music during the cocktail hour followed by a three-course meal as you gather with likeminded supporters of Oregon’s vibrant local food system.

Proceeds from “Empowering and Sustaining Oregon Family Farms” will fund legal and policy representation specific to independent farmers, artisanal food producers, and their consumers. Sponsors and attendees will join in protecting Oregon small farmers from an immediate and urgent regulatory threat to the state’s small livestock farmers including dairies, meat growers, and even horse farms.

Unfair regulatory actions threaten treating the smallest livestock farms as confined animal feeding operations (CAFOs), which is patently unfair and will hurt the livelihood of these critical members of the farming community. Farm-to-Consumer Legal Defense Fund has your farmer’s back. Will you join us?

The Benefits of Sponsoring

Event sponsors will enjoy the following benefits:

- ❖ Demonstrate your commitment to regenerative farms and the movement for a fair regulatory environment for independent farmers, artisanal food producers, homesteaders, and their consumers.
- ❖ Support the viability of local, regenerative farming and healthy farm products with a highly engaged and values-aligned audience.
- ❖ Grow your network and reinforce your brand to conscious consumers in Oregon, who value a vibrant, local and regional food system.
- ❖ Give your employees and your community another reason to be proud of your business and its investment in community.
